EXPLORE OUR EXTENSIVE COLLECTION OF FLOORINGS

With an extensive array of colours, profile, and look, make your selection from our laminate, hybrid, engineer or solid timber to elevate your dream home

Get the Architectural Look

Herringbone flooring has become increasingly popular over time due to its distinctive zigzag pattern and strong visual appeal. Widely chosen by architects and designers, it is often associated with high-end and luxury interiors, adding structure, movement, and a refined architectural feel to a space.

Material used for Herringbone

European oak is one of the most suitable timber species for herringbone flooring due to its consistent grain and lower colour variation. As an engineered timber, it offers enhanced stability while maintaining the authentic look of real wood.

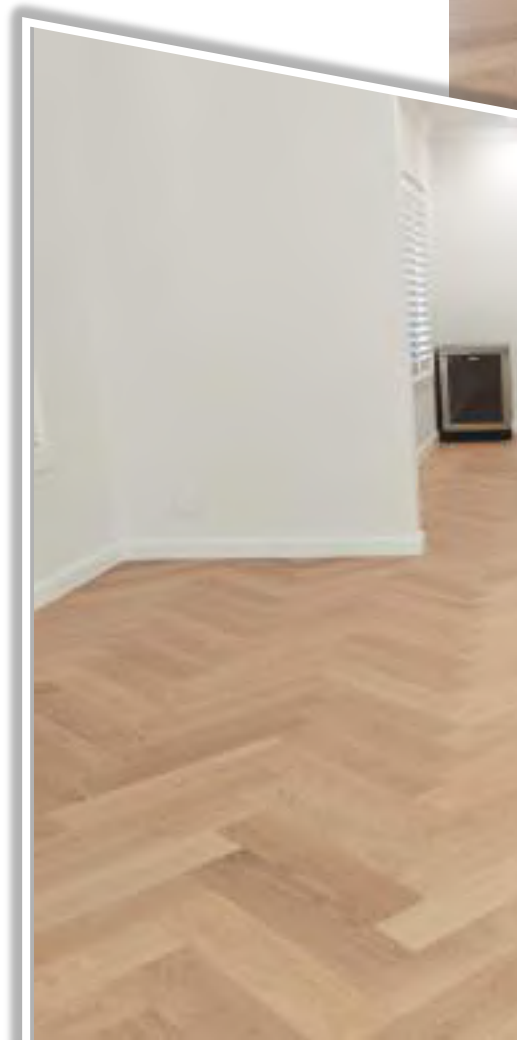

Hybrid and laminate herringbone flooring combine the classic herringbone look with everyday practicality. These options are easy to maintain, highly scratch resistant, and durable, making them ideal for busy households.

Professional installation and peace of mind

Herringbone flooring requires accurate measurement and careful installation. Professional installers ensure the pattern is laid correctly, boards are aligned, and the floor remains stable over time, giving homeowners confidence in the final result.

Simple consultation with Ozwood Timber Flooring

The process starts with a simple consultation with Ozwood Timber Flooring staff. Our team helps you choose the right product, finish, and installation method based on your space, budget, and lifestyle, making the entire process clear and stress free.

DISCLAIMER:

Images in this brochure are for illustration purposes only and may not accurately represent the true colour, grain, or texture of the timber. Timber is a natural material, and variations in colour, grain patterns, knots, and texture are normal and contribute to its unique character. Final appearance can also be affected by lighting, surface finish, and environmental conditions. Colours may differ between batches, so we strongly recommend viewing actual timber planks before making your selection to ensure the look meets your expectations.
